

Supported Employment is good business for your business.

Supported Employment taps an under-utilized work force and places persons with developmental disabilities into positions at your company. As the employer, you and your company receive dependable workers who are motivated and enthusiastic about their work.

Supported Employment provides job analysis, job matching, on-site training, and ongoing support at no cost to the employer. An employment coordinator will develop a detailed job analysis and refer qualified pre-screened applicants. A trained and qualified job coach can provide on the job training and supervision.

Your business values and vision for the future are reflected in the diversity of your workforce. Providing meaningful employment opportunities for people with disabilities enhances your workplace, promotes goodwill, and fosters a positive community spirit.

"The group is extremely helpful and I enjoy working with them."

*Cathy Roberts
Garden Department Manager
Wal-Mart*

"Scott is a great worker and a pleasure to have around."

*Chris Murphy
Manager
Rorick Buick*

"We thoroughly enjoyed our experience with Akash and Michelle."

*Penny Thompson
Manager
La Costa Library*

Local companies have discovered a great resource to meet their personnel needs.

Community Interface Services has been assisting San Diego employers in meeting their personnel needs since 1986. Join the growing list of employers who have experienced the benefits of Supported Employment.

"Community Interface Services provides us with employees to fit our requirements."

*Joni Bales
Manufacturing Manager
International Enzymes*

- Albertsons
- Bally Total Fitness
- Camp Pendleton
- CinemaStar Movie Theater
- La Costa Library
- Marriott's Brighton Gardens
- Noah's Ark Learning Center
- Ross
- Staples
- Taco Bell
- Take A Break
- Target
- Toys-R-Us
- VA Hospital
- Von's
- Wal-Mart
- Wild Animal Park

Employers benefit from the no cost services provided through Supported Employment.

- Tax credits and other government resources
- Human resources matched with your needs
- Referral of qualified job applicants
- Job analysis
- Job candidate pre-screening
- Job placement services
- Lower training costs
- On the job training assistance
- Reduced turnover in entry level positions
- Ongoing support and consultation
- Reliable and dedicated employees
- Increased customer loyalty
- Disability awareness education
- Reasonable accommodation and ADA assistance
- Positive community relations

In order to assist adults with developmental disabilities in reaching their individual potential for community participation and independence, the mission of Community Interface Services is to provide quality, individualized, community based support and training in employment, housing, community living, and other related services.

Supported Employment is Good Business

"Having the Associates in the store has enriched everyone's work experience. In addition, we have received numerous positive comments from customers regarding their work ethic and their positive courteous attitude."

*Gregory Hancock
Assistant Manager
Wal-Mart, Vista*